The lawyers in the McConnell Valdés Insurance Litigation team possess the industry knowledge and deep bench experience required to resolve even the most troublesome and complex insurance issues.

Our track record in insurance coverage litigation is outstanding. Our zealous defense of clients has resulted in victories in disputes concerning most major lines of insurance. Quite often, these are highly complex, multiparty actions brought in Puerto Rico and federal courts. Our clients benefit from our extensive experience in bringing such large-scale cases to successful conclusions. In addition, we represent clients before administrative and government agencies such as the Puerto Rico Treasury Department and the Office of the Commissioner of Insurance, to name but a few.

We also provide strategically targeted counsel on corporate and regulatory matters affecting the insurance business in Puerto Rico. Our team regularly assists and represents financial and insurance companies in legislative matters.

Dedicated to delivering the highest-quality comprehensive legal services and advice, our counsel regularly integrates input from lawyers across the firm, including colleagues in our Tax and Corporate practices.
