As the insurance industry has grown and insurance issues have become more complex, McConnell Valdés has responded by developing a professional staff that is able to meet today's challenges.

With an emphasis on corporate and regulatory matters affecting the insurance business in Puerto Rico, our Insurance Attorneys are very experienced in the field, with an excellent track record of representing insurance companies, service contract providers, and insurance producers—agencies and brokers—in a full range of licensing and organization matters, mergers and acquisitions, corporate reorganizations, and in the liquidation and dissolution process. Our attorneys also assist and represent financial and insurance companies in legislative matters. In each of these areas, we can fully integrate services from other areas of expertise, including taxes and government affairs.

Our insurance coverage litigation experience is very broad. We have been involved in disputes concerning most major lines of insurance on behalf of defendants in matters including environmental contamination, property and construction defects.

Frequently, these are complex, multi-party actions brought in Puerto Rico's courts or federal courts. Our extensive experience in managing large cases has proven valuable and, in this regard, we have been very successful.
